Contract For New Bridge

The State Highway Commission today announced award of a contract for a new bridge and a .357 mile of approach road at Wreck Island Creek on Appomattox Secondary Route 608 between Oakville and Stonewall.

Donald H. Selvage, Amherst contractor, received the award on a low net bid of $21,598 submitted July 19.

The new reinforced structure will be 113 feet long, located upstream from the present bridge. The longer bridge and new approach road will put the structure well above probably high water level, straighten curves and widen the roadway. The old bridge is a 29-foot wood span that will be dismantled by State forces after completion of the new bridge.

With engineering charges included, the project will cost $23,7000 and will be financed from Appomattox County's share of Federal Aid Secondary and State matching funds.

Construction plans also call for straightening a big bend in the creek between the old and the new bridges to give a straight flow of water and prevent erosion.

The contractor will be given five months to complete construction, not including time lost because of bad weather or other uncontrollable conditions.

Brown; historian, J. E. Peters, membership chairman, R. D. Robinson; child welfare officer, E. D. Tegethoff.

Soil District Plans Election

The Robert E. Lee Soil Conservation District embraces all lands lying within the boundaries of Appomattox, Campbell, Buckingham, Cumberland and Amherst Counties excluding the incorporated towns. The district was organized in July 1940. Cumberland County was added to the district in July 1943, and Amherst County added in August 1944.

Soil Conservation Districts are locally organized and operated. Under the provisions of the Virginia Soil Conservation Districts Act, Senate Bill 38 of the 1938 session of the General Assembly, soil conservation districts are administered by five local persons. The State Soil Conservation Committee appoints two members to the board, one of whom is a county agent from the district. The three remaining members of the five member board are elected by the qualified voters from the district. These three members serve for a period of three years. District supervisors serve without pay and the actual expenses incurred in transacting official business are paid by the State Soil Conservation Committee.

Three members will be elected to the Robert E. Lee District Board on November 8, 1949. The State Soil Conservation Committee, with headquarters at Blacksburg, Virginia, will accept petitions for candidates desiring to serve as supervisors of the Robert E. Lee Soil Conservation District until August 20, 1949. Anyone desiring to offer themselves as a candidate may secure a nominating petition form and additional information from the local county agent's office or write to E. W. Mundie, State Soil Conservation Committee, Blacksburg, Va.

Storage Plan For Farmers

Farmers who need additional storage bins on or near their barns are urged to get in touch with the local County Agricultural Conservation Committee for information on the Government's new farm storage loan program. Bennett Harding, the chairman of the Appomattox County Committee, said today that the necessary forms have been received in the local office and the program is now ready to get under way.

Under the storage - construction plan, the Commodity Credit Corporation will either guarantee loans made by local lending agencies, or if lenders cannot or do not wish to loan credit from other sources, CCC will make the loans direct.

Loans will cover up to 85 percent of the cost of the storage structure or 45 cents per bushel of the rated storage capacity, whichever is the smaller. The loans will be repayable on an annual installment plan, over a period of not more than 5 years. Provision is made for extension of these loans in instances of crop failures, etc.
